

Brenda Harris
Mediation and Engagement Director
BS, MA

“ My commitment is to help give a voice to the voiceless. My value isn't determined by anyone's inability to see my worth. Neither is yours“ Brenda Harris

Brenda has practiced facilitative mediation since 2005. Additionally since 2006, she has trained hundreds of community mediators primarily in Maryland but more recently in western Pennsylvania.

She has successfully mediated hundreds of conflicts, which include landlord-tenant, parenting plans, workplace, interpersonal relationships, school, re entry, business and neighborhood disputes.

Whenever participants are willing, she will facilitate the dialogue to help them find win-win solutions to their problem. Her firm belief, that the solution resides in the participants, governs her style of mediation and influences her training.

Brenda enjoys spending time with her family and friends, creative writing, mentoring and Steeler football.
